To J.C.
The Courage To Be
Lies in the God who appears
When all other Gods have died
In the Face of anxiety and doubt–
The Courage To Be lies in the quest–
the Quest for truth–and the essence of all man is or can be–

A man is one who not only can make the quest
But also one who can live with the results–

A man is not only one who knows what he believes
But also why he believes it–

Jim Chubb was not perfect
Most men aren't

But Jim Chubb was a man–

Nothing else needs to be said or deserves to be–

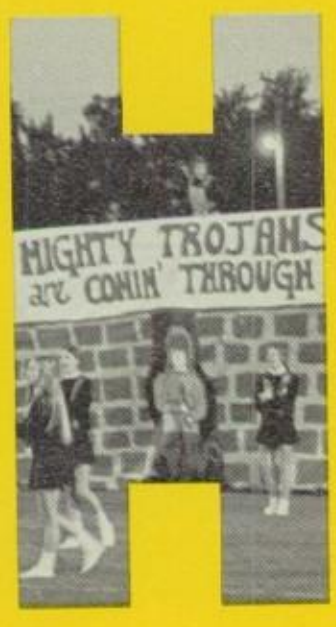
INDIANA



From the time Chesterton High School was built, the student body has participated greatly in all aspects of the school life.

Anyone can imagine and look back to what it was like in the 1920's at a basketball or football game with megaphones and raccoon coats, or in the '40's with saddle shoes and bobby socks. When someone scored for the mighty Trojans, the crowd roared.

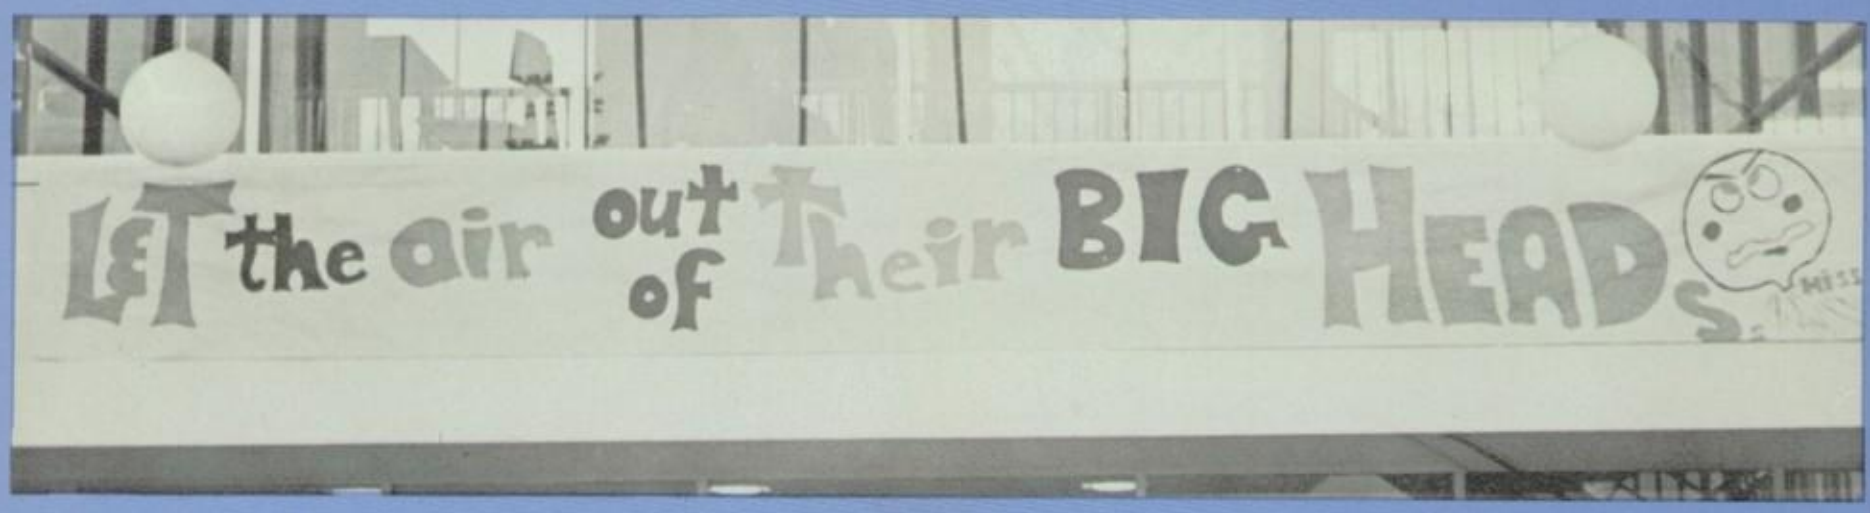
School life was filled with clubs and activities for everyone. After-school activities were just as important when students met their best friends at the Nibble Nook for a cherry coke or to listen to the latest Dean Martin hit. The styles have changed, the activities have changed, but the students' enthusiam still exists.

A lot has happened since then. Malt shops no longer exist. The students now invade the Port and Fasels for after-game action. Now, with no dress code and open campus for seniors, students come and go as they please, supposedly "doing their own thing."

But still, beneath the hustle and bustle of computer cards and student numbers, a ray of light shines through. Students join together to help create excitement in school. The halls are filled with laughter and vigor.

It's as if spirits of the past are present inside and out . . .

Inspiring Voodoo lights fire of Trojan spirit



Lettermen jackets, garters, eggthrowing, bonfires, snake dances, cutting of the Valpo goalpost, the Viking dummy—all were a part of the traditional Voodoo Night that cast the curse on the Valpo Vikings.

After cheering in the parking lot, the long line of enthusiastic supporters ventured toward the Port Drive-In on September 27, as a snake dance formed to "cruise the Port" and journey back to CHS.

Mr. Robert Waskom headed the construction building of the 35-foot bonfire, which proved to be the best CHS has ever seen.

Despite the students' efforts, the Valpo Vikings downed the Mighty Trojans, 26-7, in the rivalry the next night.

Pregame activities spur team to record-breaker

Float building by all four classes proved to be a major project during the week prior to Homecoming. As each was completed, it was brought to Westchester Middle School where all were assembled with other groups on October 12, 1973, to form the annual Football Homecoming Parade. Mrs. Hannah Eldridge was chosen by the Homecoming Committee to be the Parade Marshall this year.

As each float passed by, the judges (various administrators of the Duneland School Corporation) awarded points with the final results withheld until that night. Despite hard work by all four classes, the Senior Class won the competition with "Trojans Inject D'Feet."

Pregame activities included the singing of the National Anthem by the Concert Choir, under the direction of Mr. Robert Stone, and performances by bands from the various Duneland Schools.

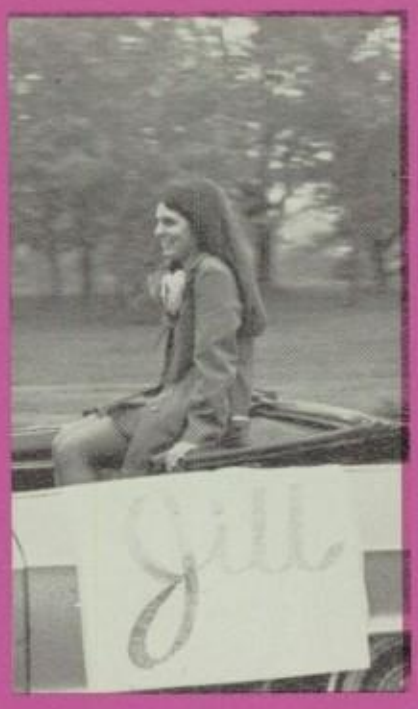
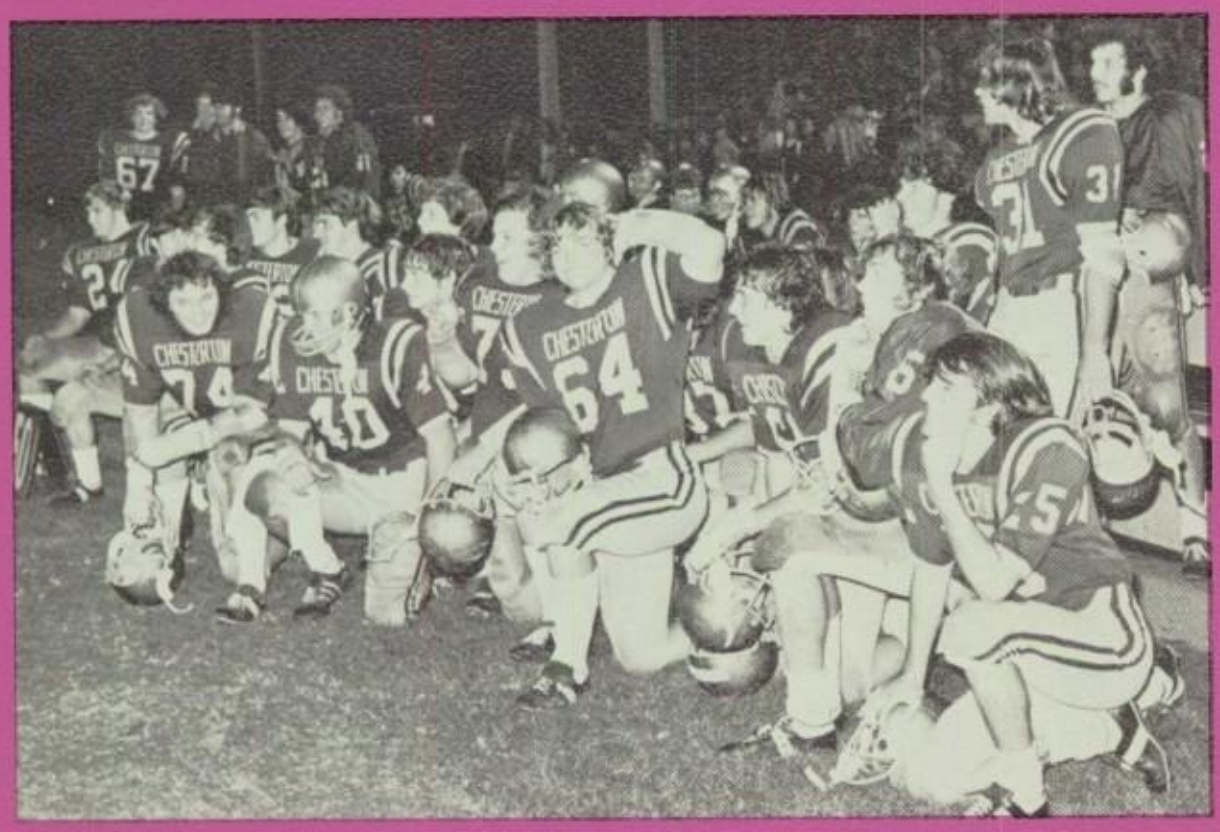
Queen Marcia reigns at Homecoming festivities





1973 Varsity football team nominated five candidates for Homecoming Queen. On October 12, the final decision lay with the students. As half-time of the CHS-Northridge game began, the candidates were driven in cars past the home side and around to the visitors side of Troy Field. They were escorted across the 50-yard line and onto the platform where each anxiously awaited the announcement of the new queen.

"And the 1973 Football Homecoming Queen is . . . Senior Marcia Kooinga!" rang out of the loudspeaker. The 1972 Queen, Robin Hunter, placed the crown on Marcia's head and presented her with a charm and bouquet of roses.

Senior court members and their escorts were Karen Vawter, escorted by graduate Mike Ayers, and Patty Vogan, with graduate Doug Walstra as her escort. Juniors were Sherri Connors, accompanied by Greg Skaltsas of Boone Grove, and Jill Stricker, with Junior Tom Appel as her escort.

Santa, carollers, hall decorations promote

Christmas cheer was boosted high among both students and faculty this year. Concert Choir carolled in the main lobby before school and through the halls.

During their free periods, the Seniors took the opportunity to decorate Senior Hall and the Christmas tree in the Upper Division lobby which they purchased.

Lettermen Club continued their annual Christmas Canned Goods Drive with profits going to 20 needy families throughout the community, and a visit from Santa on December 21 highlighted the Christmas spirit at CHS.

On the night of January 25, 1974, nine girls, selected by the basketball teams, nervously stood with their escorts before half-time of the Chesterton-East Gary game, waiting to hear their names announced.

Mr. Ron West emceed the affair and as he called out the girls' names, they crossed the floor and formed a line at the opposite end of the gym.

Then, last year's Princess, Sophomore Jennifer Covey, crowned 1974 Princess Sophomore Joan Jacobsen. Members of Joan's court were Sophomore Sue Frye and Freshmen Lina Jonynas and Lynn Reling.

Former Queen Gwen Schneckenburger crowned Senior Sue Stahl the 1974 Basketball Homecoming Queen. Sue's court consisted of Seniors Gayle Custer and Judy Kunst and Juniors Yvonne Sitter and Jill Stricker.

The new Queen and Princess and their courts then paraded past the fans and were seated at the north end of the gym.

At a reception in the cafeteria following the game, the girls and their escorts received congratulations from classmates and alumni.

Trojans have 'Pow Wow' to predict Indian upset

Trojan spirit was lifted high this year as the students rallied for a basketball defeat of the Portage Indians. Enthusiasm was boosted with a "Deck the Halls" Day at CHS. Students did their part in decorating the halls to show the school spirit of their classes.

As the decorations were completed, various faculty members ventured through and judged the halls. After much deliberation, the deserving Juniors won the competition with "Portage Hell Haven" as their theme.

At the close of the school day, a pep session helped to spark the team as a "funeral procession" took place. With the Varsity Cheerleaders serving as pallbearers, and accompanied by dirges by the Pep Band, Senior Wayne Hughes gave the "departing words" to the Portage player. Then the team was presented with a victory wreath to wish them good luck.

The efforts of the students were compounded as the Trojans soundly defeated the Indians, 78-63.

Spirit Day spurs fans, team to Sectional Finals

Spirit Expression Day, February 26, 1974, retained its annual enthusiasm with the theme of "the 50's." This was the first year that the Spirit Day Festivities was given a theme to follow, and administrators, teachers, secretaries, and aides joined students in dressing in the spirit of the day.

At the pep session that afternoon, the CHS version of the rock group, "Sha Na Na," performed as several students joined in the fun and danced throughout the gym.

The enthusiasm was worth while as the Golden Trojans defeated the Boone Grove Wolves, 44-39, that night and then went on to conquer Morgan Township Cherokees, 73-53. The Trojans were downed in the championship game of the Sectionals by Valparaiso, by a score of 59-65.

Ray Dunn as 'King,' Sandy Speckhard as 'Anna'

On May 9, 10, and 11, "The King and I" was presented in the CHS auditorium.

The story begins as Anna, a widowed English school teacher played by senior Sandy Speckhard, arrives in Siam with her young son, played by Sophomore Greg Michl, to teach the King's children the ways of Western civilization.

As the story unfolds, Anna's attempts to civilize the royal family amount to one problem after another. As Anna teaches the children, the King, played by Senior Ray Dunn, begins to question whether Siam really needs to be Westernized or not.

Anna begins to interfere with the palace routine. She corrects the King, advises two slaves in love, played by Seniors Rick Soard and Melanie Wells, and eventually produces a Siamese version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which provides a colorful dance scene for the play.

A combination of talented voices, actors, and directors, plus much work behind the scenes by the pit orchestra, stage crew, lighting and makeup crews, made this play of comedy, sorrow, joy, suspense, and romance into one of the most enjoyable love stories ever told.

Prom construction emerges successful for Class of 1975

May 10 was the beginning of the construction of the 1974 Junior-Senior Prom.

Beginning with the efforts of many juniors, the walls of the "Land of Oz" were put up and the construction was underway. The constant humming of saws and pounding of nails were heard amid voices through the following week. Once the walls were completed and most of the scenery planned, the sky of streamers went up.

Meanwhile, the poppy field was being constructed. From there, only the finishing touches remained.

After the crowning of Bruce Smith, King; Dawn DeGroff, Queen; Tom Appel, Prince; and Paula Raffin, Princess, Senior Class President Jay Andersen and his date, Senior Billie Wettstein, led the Grand March. It ended with the royal couples dancing to the theme song as other couples joined in.

348 graduate–most yet to commence from CHS

The Eighty-third Annual Chesterton High School Commencement took place Sunday, June 2, 1974, at 3 p.m. in Goldsborough Gym.

Seniors entered to the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance". The Invocation was given by Beth Sari, class secretary, and the Welcome by Jay Andersen, class president. The Rev. Charles A. Sunderland, of the Episcopal Church of the Incarnation, gave the Baccalaureate Address.

Class Sponsor Mr. John Becking presented the honor students (top five percent of the class). Mark Colley, Paul Sunderland, and William Sunderland led the Class of 1974 as Co-Valedictorians, each with a perfect 4.0 average for four years of high school. Each addressed the class, along with Salutatorian Mark Bratcher.

CHS Principal William Crockett presented the Class of 1974, and Duneland School Superintendent Dr. Karl Speckhard presented diplomas to each graduate.

Commencement exercises closed with the CHS Choir singing the benediction, "The Lord Bless You and Keep You," and the CHS Band playing, "Hey, Look Me Over."

Class of 1974 colors were maroon and gold, class flower was the red rose, and the class motto was "Let us not look back in anger, nor forward in fear, but around in awareness."

Athletes receive awards for three seasons

Cross country, tennis, and football were honored at the first Sports Awards Night.

Coach William Bailey presented awards to Dean Inherst and Joe Tonner, co-captains of the cross country team. Dean also was named Outstanding Distance Runner after placing first most times during the season.

Stacy Hostetler was elected captain of the tennis team and Most Valuable Player, the latter along with Bruce Hunter, who competed in Regionals. Coach John Norris presented the awards.

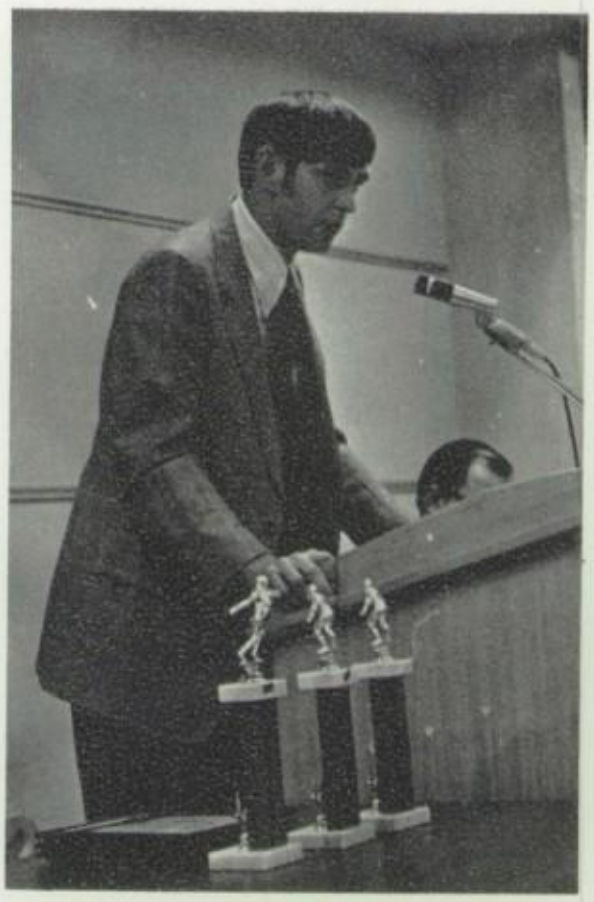
Coach Ray Banary presented football awards to tri-captains Pete Ferrari, Mike Matanich, and Jim Read. Matanich also received the award for Most Tackles; Jack Cutler, Most Valuable Back, and Dennis Babcock, Most Valuable Lineman.

Awards were given in basketball, swimming, and wrestling at the Winter Sports Awards Night.

In basketball, Coach Ray Manis presented trophies to Joe Gifford, Best Defensive Player; Matanich, Captain, and Ferrari, Most Valuable Player.

Swimmers receiving awards were Tom Evans, Most Improved Freshman; Dan Lorenz, Most Improved Sophomore; Larry Weiss, Most Improved Junior; Kevin Kinel, Most Valuable Swimmer, and Ray Dunn, Kinel, and Bill Moeller, captains. Mr. Richard Small coached the swimmers.

Wrestling awards were dominated by Senior Al Zosso, who was named Most Valuable Wrestler and given awards for Most Takedowns and Most Pins. Most Improved Wrestler was Junior Greg Kearsley. Captains were Zosso and Mike Shay. Mr. Dennis Evans made the wrestling awards.



Pete Ferrari is 'Outstanding Senior Athlete'

Pete Ferrari was named Outstanding Senior Athlete at the Spring Sports Awards Night. He received the award from Mr. Warren Canright of the Chesterton Tribune.

In other awards presented, Bob Brown and Bert Miller were named co-captains of the golf team. Mr. Manis, golf coach, presented the awards. Brown was later voted the Medalist award.

In baseball, Head Coach Jack Campbell gave awards to Jim Lehner for highest batting average and Most Valuable Player, and to Randy Schmidt, Top Pitcher. Bob Cunningham was elected team captain for next year and was presented a plaque by this year's captain, Scott Joyce.

Tim Babcock was voted track team captain and Outstanding Senior Runner. Howard Lane was Most Valuable Player, having accumulated the most points during the season. Track awards were presented by Head Coach William Miller.

Queen Patty Vogan selected most photogenic

Senior Patty Vogan was selected 1974 Singing Sands Yearbook Queen for her photogenic beauty in both formal and environmental surroundings.

Ten sales representatives of Indiana School Pictures, who took the CHS senior portraits this year, screened both traditional and environmental pictures of CHS senior girls and selected the most photogenic in both areas. Out of the finalists, Mr. Dean McWhirter, president of Indiana School Pictures, selected Patty as Queen.

The announcement of the Queen and her Court was made on Senior Honors Day. Patty received one dozen roses and a charm. Her court, Gayle Custer, Sue Jackson, Sandy Speckhard, and Pam Stewart, were each presented with a charm and one rose.

ACTIV

Progress is the only word that can describe the changes made in classroom and extracurricular activities at CHS since the '40's.

Classrooms now have two, sometimes even three teachers instructing up to 80 students in a period of 55 minutes. Some subjects are split into nine-week mini courses, such as "Black Man in America," or "Rug Hooking," thus giving the student a bigger choice of subjects; others continue to be full-year subjects.

Clubs are a part of many students' lives. Some names have changed since the '40's. Chesterton Trojan Club is now Lettermen, Girls Athletic Association is now GIA, and Scoop is now Reflector. Other names have remained the same, such as Booster Club and Honor Society. Even though the names may be different, the goals remain consistent.

It's as if spirits of the past are present inside and out . . .

Four students win local safety poster contest;

Art students were involved in many activities which took them both in and outside the classroom this year.

Senior Ann Raffin, Junior Andrea Koss, Sophomore Sue Hammerman, and Freshmen Kathy Highberger and Mary Shields all were winners in the Valparaiso Vidette-Messenger Safety Poster Contest.

Students in Primitive Art made 3-D papier mache masks, figures, and ceremonial forms for the Duneland Art Show in the spring. Students also gave demonstrations, working in the areas of forming, weaving, and printmaking.

Due to the enthusiastic response shown by the students, art classes remained in nine-week mini courses. Through the variety of mini courses, ranging from Rug Hooking to Jewelry and Enameling, students were able to choose courses which interested them the most.

Business facilities offer extensive training

Business Department has programs that prepare students to enter the business world directly after graduation into many types of office jobs. Training in personal skills, such as Personal Typing, Notetaking, and Consumer Education, are also available to all students at CHS.

Physical facilities include attractive, office-like classrooms and the latest equipment being used in the business offices of the community. These include electric typewriters, adding machines, a variety of types of transcribing machines, and the most recent additions to the printing and display electronic calculator field.

OEA prepares students for business careers

"OEA (Office Education Association) is dedicated to support and develop competencies to the office occupation," according to Mrs. Mildred Callis, sponsor.

Membership was made up of students enrolled in the Intensive Office Laboratory. The Chesterton Chapter participated in competitive events at the regional, state, and national level. In November, five Senior OEA officers, four junior OEA officers, Mrs. Callis and Mrs. Janet Trella, Junior OEA sponsor, attended a Youth Leadership Conference at North Newton High School in Morocco, Ind.

With the aid of the Senior OEA officers, Debbie Fonner, president; Sue Frederici, vice-president; Lori McElfresh, secretary, and Chris Ray, treasurer, the OEA members sponsored a car wash in September, and sold candy and candles throughout the year. Profits from these projects helped pay expenses to national contest.

Junior OEA was formed this year. Members were juniors who planned to enroll in the Intensive Office Lab in their senior year. Membership of 32 elected as officers Paula Raffin, president; Laur Laudien, vice-president; Pam Krause, secretary, and Debbie Anderson, treasurer.

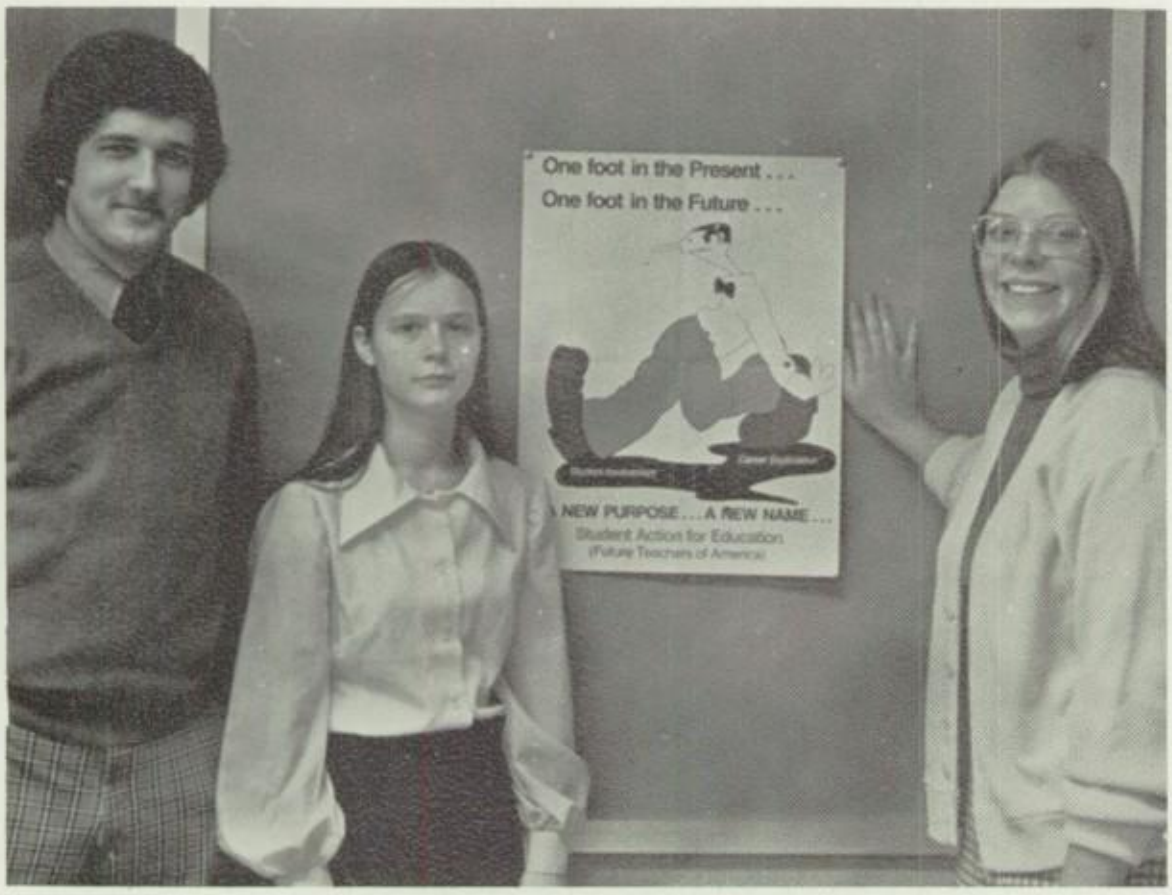
SAE expands teaching opportunities to students



One foot in the Present . . .
One foot in the Future . . .
A NEW PURPOSE . . . A NEW NAME . . .
Student Action for Education
(Future Teachers of America)

SAE (Students for Action in Education) was formed to give the students interested in all fields of education a chance to investigate the various opportunities and fields open in education.

Though previously interested only in preparing future teachers, SAE performed the function of initiating an interest in fields allied with the classroom including, school counseling, nursing, administration, public opinion in education, innovation, and adult education, according to SAE sponsor, Mr. Ralph Ayres.

Senior Lisa Penfold was chosen to represent the Cadet Teaching program this year.

SAE Officers were Seniors Cardy Spaulding, president; Vicki Anderson, vice-president, and Beth Dresh, secretary.

National Honor Society recognizes top students

Students become eligible for National Honor Society membership from their school grade averages. Teachers then ranked those students on their character, service, and leadership abilities.

The club sponsored a Book Fair for the students in February and March. Profits from this went to service to the school and community.

Officers for the 1973-74 year were Seniors Carolyn Katzen, president; Luis Cuellar, vice-president; Ann Raffin, secretary, and Junior Chris Meyer, treasurer. Sponsors were Mrs. Sharon Robbins and Mrs. Anne Niequist.

Juniors, Seniors choose courses of interest from reading, writing, listening, speaking

UD Communications remained the same this year with Juniors and Seniors choosing the electives that interested them the most in the areas of reading, writing, listening, and speaking.

Some of the new courses included Dynamics of Speech Arts, Reader's Theatre, and Romantic Background of Our Language. Two courses which offered a variation from the usual electives were Great Ideas of Man and Latin. Great Ideas of Man was a philosophy course dealing with Truth, Beauty, and Goodness. Latin was a semester course primarily concerned with Latin derivatives which are part of our basic vocabularly.

During the past two years mini courses have proved to be very effective in allowing students to pursue their individual interests.

Drama, poetry add to LD Communications

Film studies, drama, and poetry added variation to the Lower Division Communications classes this year.

The purpose of the film studies were to help students become more critical of films by determining various underlying aspects of each. Some of the films which freshmen and sophomores viewed were To Kill a Mockingbird, On the Waterfront, and Up the Down Staircase.

Drama and poetry were also presented this year, as was Developmental Reading.

Team teaching and level work were still the main characteristics of Lower Division Communications.

Upper and Lower Division students were given the chance during the year to combine their imagination and writing abilities by putting together a booklet, completely student-designed.

The publication contained poems, short stories, and art work written and selected by members of Creative Writers Club. After publication, the booklet went on sale to the student body, faculty members, and the public in the spring.

This year's club was headed by officers Junior Debbie Eckstein, editor; Seniors Becky Sobecki, assistant editor; Beth Dresh, business manager, and Sue Iwan, assistant business manager. The club's sponsor and adviser was Mrs. Hannah Eldridge.

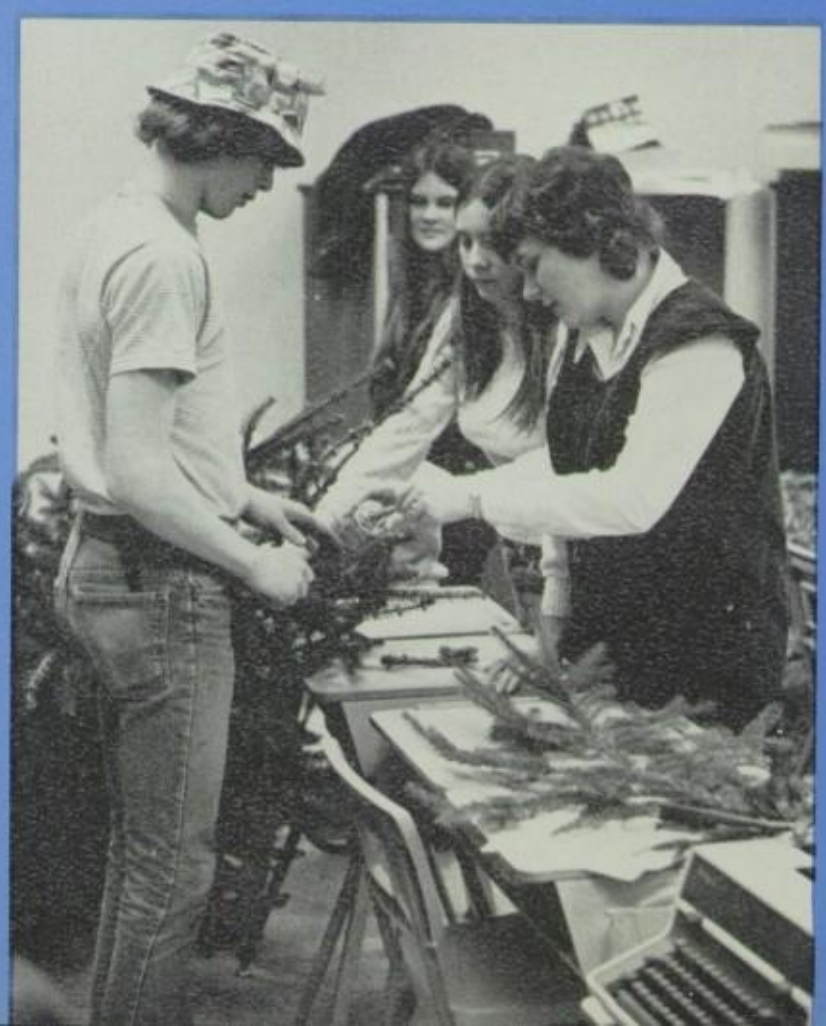
Newspaper 'reflects' student events, ideas

Reflector gave the news, students' opinions, features, and editorials on events that concerned the student body, plus their interests and activities.

Money-making projects to pay for the issues published biweekly were the selling of Homecoming Mums, subscriptions, and ads.

Each nine weeks the editors-in-chief changed, along with some members of the staff. These changes gave several interested people the chance to try their hands at putting out a newspaper.

The four seniors sharing the responsibilities of editors-in-chief each nine weeks consecutively were Billie Wettstein, Denise Johnson, Vicki Anderson, and John Dickinson. Senior Laurie Carr served as business manager all year. Page editors also changed as the nine weeks did.



'Singing Sands' '74 gives meaning to CHS year

"The 1974 Singing Sands has tried to convey the theme of 'It's as if spirits of the past are inside and out,' " stated Senior Laurie Carr, editor-in-chief. Mrs. Janice Custer helped to lead and advise, along with Laurie, the 20 staff members.

During the year the staff had a sale of pictures not used in the yearbook. Proceeds from this, along with subscriptions, ads, and class picture commissions, helped pay the expenses for the publication of the book.

Further acknowledgements and specifications are listed in the closing section of the yearbook.

'Espanol, Frances, Deutsch' classes, clubs

Spanish, French, and German classes and clubs participated in many activities this year. They experimented with foreign foods and played foreign games. German Club went carolling at Christmas and sold baked goods. Several French students visited the Museum of Science and Industry to view their exhibit on France. Spanish Club sponsored a Donkey Basketball Game to raise money to send Spanish students abroad next summer.

The curriculum in foreign language was still based on an independent study program which included conferences for a grade.

Experience gained through work study program

Special Education program was part of the high school curriculum and is geared towards work and life. The students' courses were directed toward a pre-vocation study.

Students participate in a work-study program. Sophomores worked at CHS or other school buildings, while juniors and seniors worked in town. Places of employment included Big T and Shady Lawn Florist.

Game of chess provides new area of competition

Learning and playing the game of chess was made into a club for the students interested and "for stimulation of the thought processes," according to Co-sponsor Al Krause. Mr. James Strange is also a sponsor.

Beginning students learned to play the game, and the more-experienced students became more involved with practice and matches with other schools. Officers were Terry Kelly, president; Donna Klewer, vice-president, and Ozzie Moody, secretary-treasurer.

This past year five productions were put on in the CHS Auditorium, under the overall direction of Mr. Glen Percifield, director of Speech, Debate, and Drama.

The first production was the Annual Variety Show, entitled "Showcase of Talent." Entries came to 21, including Dr. Edward Wall, assistant principal; Mr. Al Castronovo, chairman of the Music Department; Mr. Robert Stone, choir director; Mr. Royce Armstrong, band director, and Senior Paul Parker, who made up a Dixieland Jazz Band. Directors were Mr. Percifield and Mr. Joseph Wycoff, with Senior Warren Zeigler as student director.

The children's play, The Strange Case of Mother Goose, was the next production. It was a comical-musical play with Mother Goose rhymes put to music. Senior Debbie Stipanovich played Mother Goose; Junior Pat Walsh, her goose Hector; Junior Jim Peppers, Solomon Grundy, and Senior Rick Soard, Thomas Feet.

1984 was a suspense play, giving thought toward the future. Mr. Richard Nahas directed, with Senior Carol Knapp student directing. Main characters included Junior Greg Odle, as Winston; Sophomore Rhonda Reinhold, Julia; Senior Terry Kelly, O'Brien; Junior Eric Schlene, Syme, and Senior Deeanne Justus, Parson.

The Brute, Plaza Suite, and The Veldt were chosen as three one-acts to be the next production. Student teacher Miss Karen Mundy directed The Brute, with Senior Dan Skaggs as student director. Mr. Wycoff directed the other two acts, with Senior Sandy Speckhard as student director in Plaza Suite and Junior Joyce Bertolacini, student director in The Veldt.

The final production by Speech, Debate, and Drama was Ten Little Indians. It was a suspense-mystery play with a "who-done-it" plot. Mr. Hal Johnson directed, with senior Sue Jackson student directing. The main characters included Junior Jim Snook, as Captain Philip Lombard; Joyce Bertolacini, Vera Clythorne; Sophomore Jim Franson, Sir Lawrence Wargrave; Junior Lori East, Emily Brent, and Junior Jim Peppers, William Blore.

Backstage work–directing, lighting, set design,

For a play production to be ready for opening night, much work is done by students and teachers other than those on the stage.

Direction of plays is given by teachers with students assisting. Mr. Glen Percifield is head of Speech, Debate, and Drama. Other teachers directing plays this year were Mr. James Cavallo, The Strange Case of Mother Goose; Mr. Richard Nahas, 1984; Mr. Joseph Wycoff, the three one-acts; and Mr. Hal Johnson, Ten Little Indians.

Lights and sound was taken care of by students guided by Mr. Don Beckley, head of AV.

On the stage, sets and properties were constructed, painted, and blocked out by students with the help of Mr. Lee Amstutz.

Costumes and makeup were taken care of by Mrs. Donna Whitenack, with students helping to make costumes and making up the actors at dress rehearsal and the performances.

Mr. Henry Harmon was in charge of publicity, ticket sales, and assigning ushers for performances.

Talking Trojans capture Sectionals, Regionals,

"Paul Tillick, a contemporary theologian, stated that 'Religion is anything you take seriously.' At CHS, speech is a religion," stated Mr. Joe Wycoff, speech coach.

CHS Speech Team lived up to its motto, taking first place at the Sectional and Regional Speech meets. Then turning its talent to the State meet, the CHS Speech Team went on to capture first place, competing there against 250 top students from 70 other schools.

Junior Debbie Wahl won first place in Original Oratory for the second year in a row to qualify for Nationals. Also contributing to the first place finish were Seniors Beth Sari (whose cutting of "Mame" won first place in the State), Bill Sunderland, and Dave Dixon; Juniors Chris Meyer and Ann Willis, and Sophomores Rhonda Reinhold and Jim Franson.

Seniors Paul and Bill Sunderland captured top awards at the Northern Indiana District Congress. They accompanied Debbie to the National Tournament in Dallas, Tex., where Paul was named "Outstanding Student Senator" in the nation.

CHS Debate Team maintained its consistent competitiveness during the 1973-74 school year. The 30 debators participated in 15 invitational debate tournaments, placing in the top five at 11 of the tournaments. The debators, also took part in two demonstration debates, the Indiana High School Forensic Association and Purdue Debate Clinic.

Highlights of the season were the National Forensic League District Tournament, where Juniors Chris Meyer and Mark Churchwell placed third; the State Debate meet, where Chris and Mark placed sixth; Purdue University Legislative Assembly, where senior Paul Sunderland won the Eugene Bainbridge Memorial Trophy; Indiana University Invitational Debate Tournament, where Seniors Paul and Bill Sunderland captured first place, and the Indiana University Congress, won by Senior Sue Iwan.

AV expands to offer extras for CHS students

Library assisted students and faculty by putting materials on reserve when a class needs them for research. The library has many facilities to help students with research and projects. Some of these include a vertical file, microfilm, a morgue with magazines dating back even seven years, albums, filmstrips, reference books, and an extensive number of books.

All these materials enable students to do most of their research in the school without having to go elsewhere to gather materials. Mrs. Elyse Reynolds, head librarian, coordinated work between the Upper and Lower Division libraries.

Audio-Visual Center, under the direction of Mr. Dan Beckley, expanded to include a closed circuit television distribution center. Student aides were kept busy assisting both students and faculty with such things as operating video-tape recorders, film and film-strip projectors, cassette tapes, and tape recorders, and developing film and printing pictures in the dark room. Printing was done for posters, transparencies, and other supplementary material for the classrooms.

Mr. Beckley stated that approximately 500 work orders went through AV during the year.

Students get in shape, learn to use leisure time

Physical Education Department gives students an opportunity to excel in a wide range of activities. These include flag football, archery, gymnastics, golf, swimming, and bowling. The students receive course outlines for each, then take skills and written tests.

Swimming classes are set up in levels: beginner, advanced beginner, intermediate and swimmer, in which the students' progress is checked off on a card retained through high school.

Another unique aspect of the PE Department, according to chairman, Mr. John Mathias, is that, "we own and supply all equipment used by students."

Health, which is a required semester course, is divided into two nine-week programs, health lecture and health lab. The former includes information on family life, emotions and personality, and drugs. Health lab includes six areas of study, including sense organs, digestive system, and bones and muscles, which students learn through the disection of such things as frogs and cow eyes.

Students gain experience in coed Home Economics

Home Economics courses this year provided a variety of coed activities for students at CHS. Emphasis was placed on teaching the students how to cope with personal and family problems as well as teaching them how to be thrifty consumers and competent parents.

In cooking classes, students were engaged in Gourmet Cooking and Entertaining, while in sewing classes they learned new techniques in Fashion Design.

This year, various speakers were brought in to lecture to the students. In Personal Development classes, a beautician and a representative from Merle Norman spoke, and in Family Living a minister, a priest, and an insurance agent were guest speakers.

Radio Club organizes, operates Station WGRD

A new activity at CHS this year was the Radio Club. The 50 members operated WGRD, the school's radio station. Dr. Edward Wall, assistant principal, and Co-sponsors Glen Percifield and Dan Beckley assisted Junior Greg Odle, president and station manager; Senior Terry Kelly, production manager, and Sophomore Rhonda Reinhold, assistant director, in arranging the station.

At the Radio Club meetings, students listened to guest speakers such as Mr. David Bard, DJ for WAKE Radio, and made plans for a contest to find a slogan for WGRD. Members also donated the records the station used.

Music played was selected by students, and a log was kept of all the songs. Students served as DJ's, technicians, and secretaries.

WGRD was completely operated by students, while the equipment was provided for by the AV Department. Mr. Beckley assisted the students in assembling the equipment.

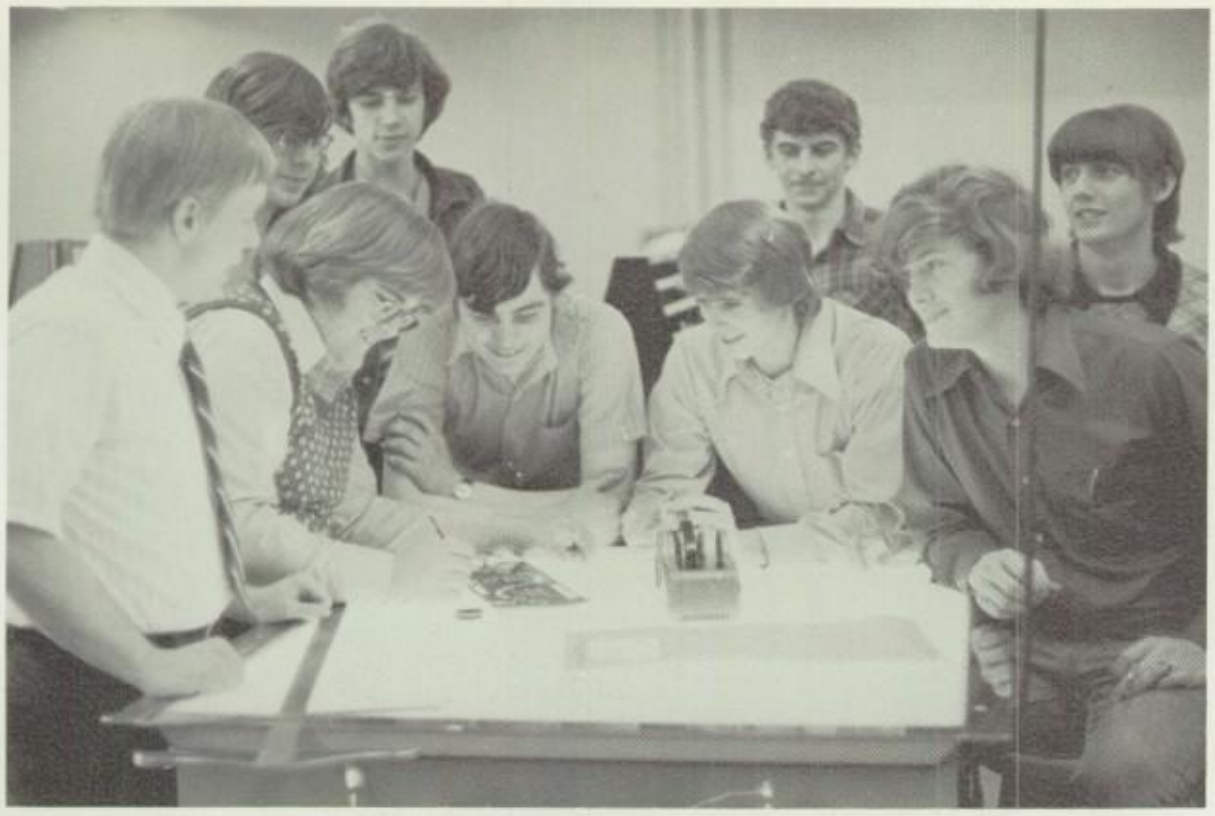

Graphics expanded this year, not only in equipment, but in the formation of the Graphics Club.

Students in Graphics Club tried to meet at least once a week. Activities included making program tickets, posters, and brochures for the school in such areas as music concerts and play productions.

Money-making projects such as making and selling iron-on decals, black light posters, and stationery, helped toward getting more equipment.

Industrial Arts classes filled to capacity

Industrial Arts Department is set up in semester courses, which this year were loaded to capacity. Courses that were offered to the students included Drafting, Electricity, Graphics, Metals, Woods, and Power Mechanics.

Drafting class promoted an understanding of drawing and its relationships to the products of our industrial society. Electricity was an in-depth study of student-oriented projects such as building transistor radios.

Graphics did all the printing for the whole Duneland School System. Metals was involved in such things as sheet metal, milling machine work, casting, and welding, where students made tool boxes, hammer handles, and screwdrivers.

Woods worked with all kinds of wood and made cabinets and tables. Power Mechanics was set up as a garage-type working area, where students and faculty had their cars serviced by appointment.

Students win math trophies, work independently

Math students won the Traveling Team Trophy along with 12 other trophies at the annual Math Contest hosted by CHS this year.

Those receiving firsts were Mark Bratcher, individual comprehensive and slide rule, and Katrina Smith, Algebra II team competition. Second place trophies were awarded to Randy Russell, Algebra II individual and team competition; Mark, team comprehensive, and Tom Goeddel, slide rule. Third place winners were Kathrina and Dave Green with a tie in Algebra II individual competition, and Tom Speckhard and Kevin Kelley with a tie in Geometry. Other awards went to Tom Goeddel, fifth place comprehensive, and Bert Miller, eighth place Geometry.

In addition to regular classroom work, students could go on independent study if they showed a sense of responsibility and had a teacher's recommendation. The objective of independent study was for the student to accelerate and broaden his knowledge of mathematics. On independent study, students met in the math lab and worked at their own pace, under the supervision of Mr. Robert Waskom, Math Department chairman.

Science opens new opportunities for students

Science Department has grown by adding two Earth Science and one Chemistry classes to this year's schedule.

New in the Science Department is Mr. Dennis Evans' Zoo and a handout containing every section in the science classes put into a booklet called, "Introduction to the Sciences."

Also the wall between the science lab and the project room was knocked out to extend working area for students.

Mock hearings, experiments involve students

Civics classes this year were concerned with simulations and experiments in an attempt to make the classes more interesting and get the students involved.

The simulations included a presidential convention and a mock murder trial. Psychology classes did more with various kinds of behavioral experiments. These included an experiment concerning behavior as related to lie detector testing, another testing reflexes, and finally one testing the field of vision relating to color.

History courses were reconstructed and some combined, with only two courses being offered each nine weeks.

Classroom work was generally done in small groups where discussions were the predominant activity.

Student Government continues court system

Student Government provided and sponsored activities and convocations for the student body this year. These included the Basketball Homecoming Dance and convocations featuring a speaker from the AMOCO company, the Northern Illinois University Orchestra, Floyd Fithian, who was running for Congressman, and a speaker on the energy crisis. They also sponsored an exchange of students in Student Government from other schools in order to get new ideas from other schools.

Executive Branch was supervised by Principal William Crockett. The Legislative Branch was composed of the Senate (Seniors and Juniors) and the House of Representatives (Sophomores and Freshmen). The Judical Branch was made up of two Appellate Courts and a Supreme Court.

Grievance Boards, set up to resolve grievances between students and faculty, heard approximately half a dozen cases during the year.

Mr. Thomas Noesges was the Student Government sponsor.

Madrigal Dinner adds variety to choir schedule

Choir students participated in a unique musical experience in presenting its first 16th Century Madrigal Dinner. The dinner was at the Goodfellow Lodge and featured a candlelight dinner served by students in 16th Century costumes performing appropriate Christmas music.

Other concerts included a Christmas and Valentine's Day Concert and "Our Spring Thing," which featured all of CHS's choirs. This concert included both song and dance.

At NISBOVA Swing Choir Contest, Sandpipers (Swing Choir) came back with honors which included two perfect scores. This group joined the Jazz Band in a concert, "All That Jazz," which featured professional saxophonist Arnie Lawrence.

Other choir members received six firsts in vocal solos and nine first in ensembles at state contests.

Award system rewards music students' hard work

An awards system was started this year based on student participation in concerts, contests, and other music activities. Music students sold grapefruit and oranges to raise funds for the music jackets given to those who earned top points.

Band students work seemed to never end with a busy schedule throughout the year. Marching Band started early, with students coming in two weeks prior to the beginning of school in order to prepare half-time activities for the Jamboree. Marching Band also performed in CHS and VU Homecoming Parades.

One of the Jazz and Symphonic Bands most memorable experiences was the Jazz Concert, with guest artist Arnie Lawrence, lead saxophone player on the "Tonight Show" Band and a member of "Blood, Sweat, and Tears."

Band members did well at State Contest with solos receiving 11 firsts and ensembles earning 14 firsts.

Concessions provides services at Trojan games

1973-74 Concessions Club expanded to include 55 members and was opened for the first time to freshmen. Concessions Club was led by Mr. Robert Waskom, sponsor, with Mr. David Brandenburg and Mr. John Becking, assistants. All devoted much time and effort aiding the club in their activities.

This year Concessions Club opened four stands to accommodate hungry fans and extended their services into the crowd at football games. During basketball season, the Club also provided their services to the Donkey Basketball Game and other special events. In the north and south lobbies, they sold pop, coffee, hot chocolate, popcorn, and ice cream.

The 22 senior members received maroon windbreakers with gold Trojan Concessions patches and at the end of the season celebrated their years of service to the club with a dinner at Wellman's.

Varsity Cheerleaders again receive top awards

For the third consecutive year, Varsity Cheerleaders won the trophy for "Outstanding Squad" at the Nationwide Cheerleader Camp in Michigan. Senior Linda Ehrick received the "Outstanding Cheerleader" Award and Junior Jill Stricker received the "Nationwide Cheerleader" Award.

In addition to their cheering tasks, Varsity, Junior Varsity, and Freshmen Cheerleaders helped plan the pep sessions and served as hostesses for various Athletic Department functions, such as the Awards Programs.

Mrs. Sharon Robbins sponsored and encouraged all three cheerleader squads.

Trojanettes, Twirlers, and Color Guard formed to give half-time and pregame entertainment to the audiences at sports events and to give the girls a chance to show their talents. All groups were instructed by Mrs. Kathy Barbian.

Twenty Varsity Trojanettes performed during football and basketball season. Senior Sandy Speckhard was captain.

Twelve Junior Varsity Trojanettes performed at the pregame programs during football season and at half-times at JV basketball games.

Varsity and Junior Varsity Twirlers learned many new routines and gave performances during half-times.

This year Color Guard increased their size to four rifles, four silks, a sabre, and the American flag. Their duties were to present the colors during the pregame show during football season. Senior Beth Sari acted as Color Guard sargeant.

Ski Club begins 'Ski from Scratch' program

This year's Ski Club was open to all students to provide an opportunity to share a common interest in the sport. A "Ski from Scratch" program was set up for beginners. Ski Jackets were bought by the Ski Club, with a patch designed to represent the Ski Club by Freshman Alice Hughes.

The Pines was the environment for the Ski Club members. Experienced and learning skiers stuck together to help one another while taking advantage of the snow during the winter months.

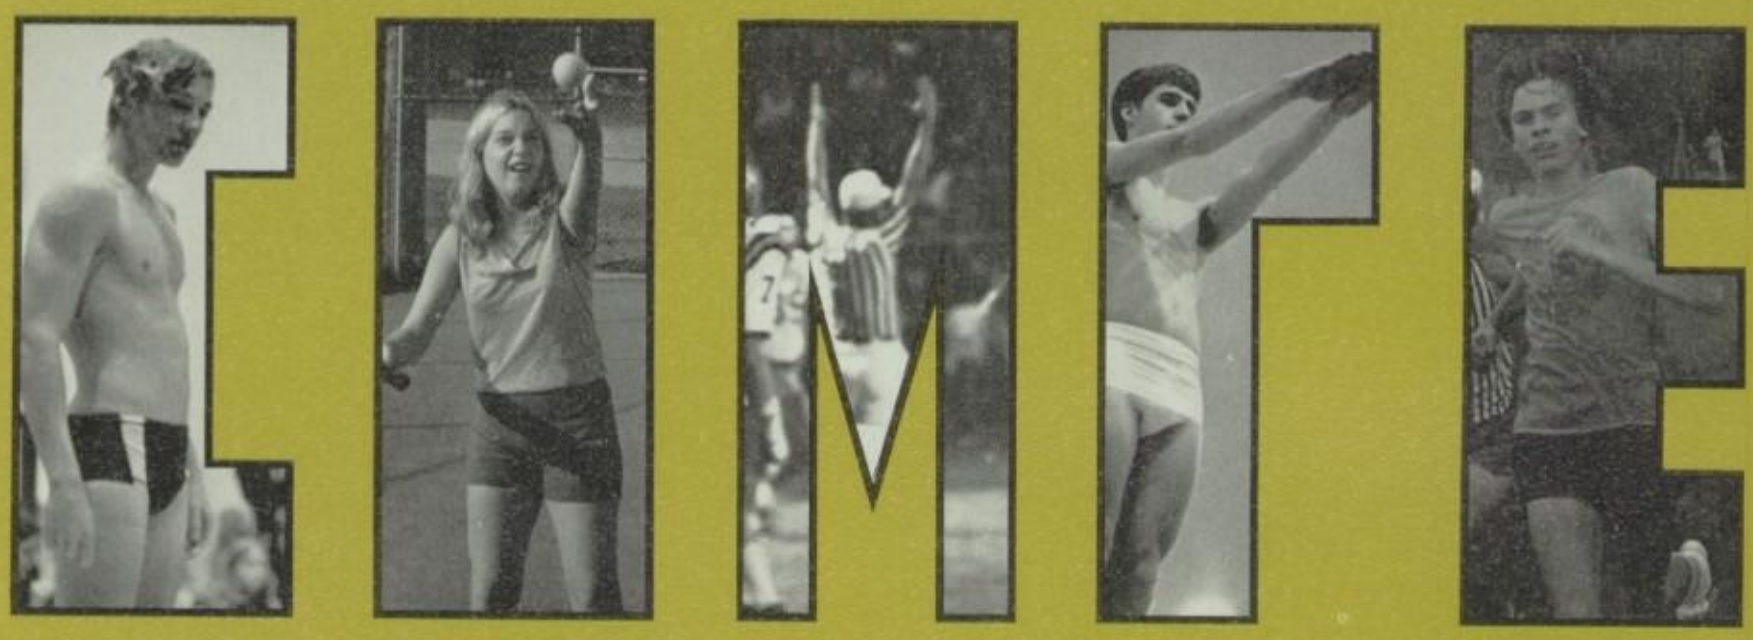
At Christmas their Canned Goods Drive was again successful. After goods had been collected, they were distributed to 20 needy families in the Duneland area. Senior Don Hansen and Junior Gary Coan were co-chairmen for this project.

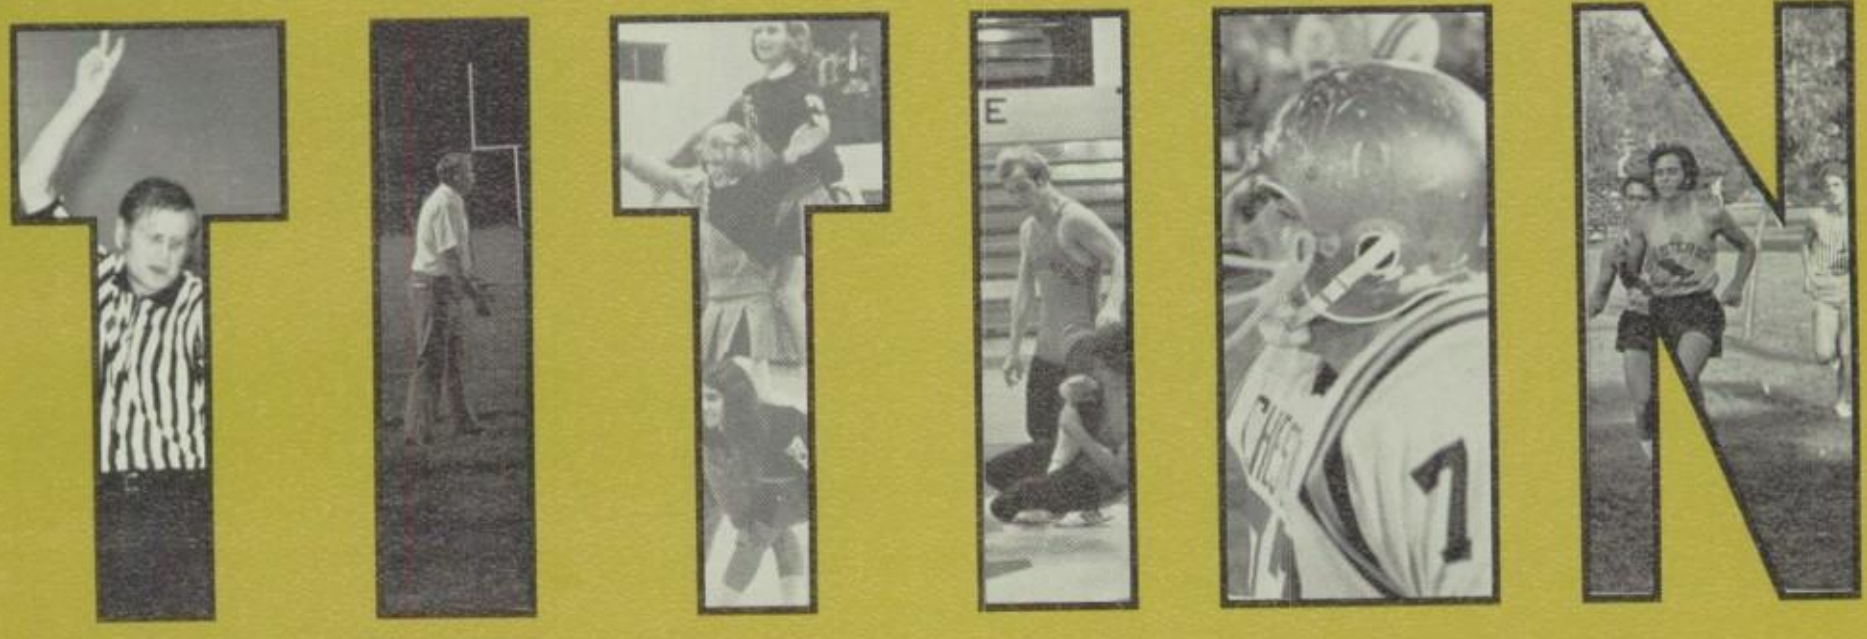
During basketball season the Lettermen took care of the bleachers, swept floors at half-time, and sold programs to earn money, which was used to buy jackets for new letter winners.

In the spring, Lettermen helped sponsor the WMS-LMS Athletic Benefit and assisted with the Walk for Mankind. 1973-74 Lettermen Club Officers were Seniors Dean Inherst, president; Gary Adkisson, vice-president; Norm Ruge, secretary-treasurer; Kevin Finley and Bob Canright, co-chairmen in publicity; and Jim Cherkis and Don Hansen, co-chairmen for ushers and program sales. Mr. Ray Banary is the club's sponsor.

CROSS COUNTRY



COMME



A whistle blows, a gun is shot, custom starts the way of every sport active at CHS.

During the '40's, sport events consisted of a boys track team and basketball team, senior girls basketball team, and a Girls Athletic Association. Now in 1974, sports have expanded to ten GIA activities, nine Intramural sports, and nine boys varsity sports, in addition to JV, sophomore, and freshman teams.

Team members change, new plans are put into effect, outcomes are varied, but the enthusiasm which is shared by the team members and fans never dies.

It's as if spirits of the past are present inside and out . . .

as team, individuals set new school records

This year proved to be one for breaking records for the Trojan gridders. Defense held the opponents to 1,440 yards for a new school record. Not to be outdone, the offense also broke a record, scoring 61 points in a single game against Northridge. Senior running back Jack Cutler took records in several areas. He scored the most points during the entire season, with a total of 136 points and 22 touchdowns.

Other individual records were broken also. Senior end Pete Ferrari took the title for most yards per kickoff return, averaging 49. Senior Jeff Bloomquist recorded the most punt returns, averaging 65 yards for four carries.

The highlight of the season was the win over Portage after five years, with a score of 25-6.

Cutler and Junior Bill Crockett were named to the All-State Football Team, and six Trojans were listed on the Duneland All-Conference Team: Cutler, Crockett, Ferrari, and Seniors Dennis Babcock, Joe Gifford and Mike Matanich.

Tri-captains elected by the team were Ferrari, Matanich, and Senior Jim Read. Top trophies for the season went to Matanich, for Most Tackles; Cutler, for Most Valuable Back, and Babcock, for Most Valuable Lineman.

Mentors for the Golden Trojans were Mr. Ray Banary, head coach, and Mr. Ed Lewandowski, Mr. Dennis Evans, and Mr. Robert Trzeciak.

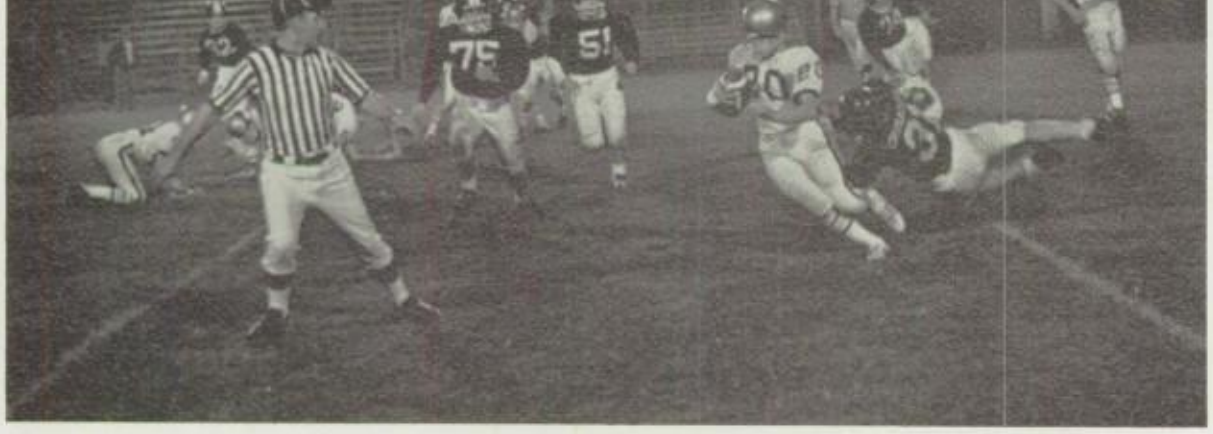
Unshakable teamwork key to undefeated season



1973 football season proved very successful for the freshman team as they went undefeated, with only one tie to Kessling. The main event of the season came when the Frosh beat both Valpo junior highs, Ben Franklin as well as the previously-undefeated Thomas Jefferson.

Coached by Mr. Tom Peterson and assisted by Mr. Fran Shove, the freshmen set three new records this season. Halfback Earl Clark averaged 9.4 yards per carry, while Quarterback Marty Wagner ended the season with seven touchdown passes, and Mark Armstrong scored a total of 55 points.

1973 Varsity Wrestling had a 5-4 record in regular season competition, capturing second place in the Duneland Conference Tourney, third in the Chesterton Tourney, and fifth in the Penn Tourney.

Senior Al Zosso represented CHS in the State Wrestling Finals, placing third in the 132-lb. class. He lost his second match in the finals, 7-4, to the State Champion in that division. Zosso went to state after completing a season of 26 wins, 20 of them by pins. He took the Duneland Conference, Chesterton Tourney, and Penn Tourney Championships.

Senior Mike Shay was undefeated in dual meets and finished the season with a 15-1 overall record, Chesterton and Penn Tourney Championships, and as runnerup in the Conference Tourney in the 98-lb. class. Don DeHart, senior, captured the Conference and Chesterton Tourney titles and was runnerup in the Penn Tourney in the 155-;b. division, having a 13-2-2 overall record.

Mr. Dennis Evans and Assistant Tom Lambert coached the matmen to their second place berth in the Duneland Conference.

JV finished their season with six wins, three losses, and one tie. Many JV also wrestled varsity throughout the year.

through rough season, Sectional competition

This year's Varsity Basketball team fought through a variety of competition for a 14-9 record. Many games proved to be a close challenge as the outcomes were decided in the final minutes of the game.

Hope soared for victory at Sectionals as the team defeated Boone Grove and Morgan, but Valpo claimed success in the final minutes of the championship game, 65-59, and then went on to win Regionals.

Senior Pete Ferrari led the team in scoring, with 390 points, and Senior Joe Gifford followed with 207. Junior Scott Gadd made 51 of 90 attempts for the best percentage shooting. Senior Tom Lewis hit 31 of 40 free throws for 77 percent. The team's leading rebounder was Senior Randy Schmidt, who took 113 defensive and 41 offensive rebounds. A new record was set by Mike Matanich in getting 119 assists in his Senior year.

Coaching the team was Mr. Ray Manis, with assistants, Mr. Ed Lewandowski and Mr. Larry James.

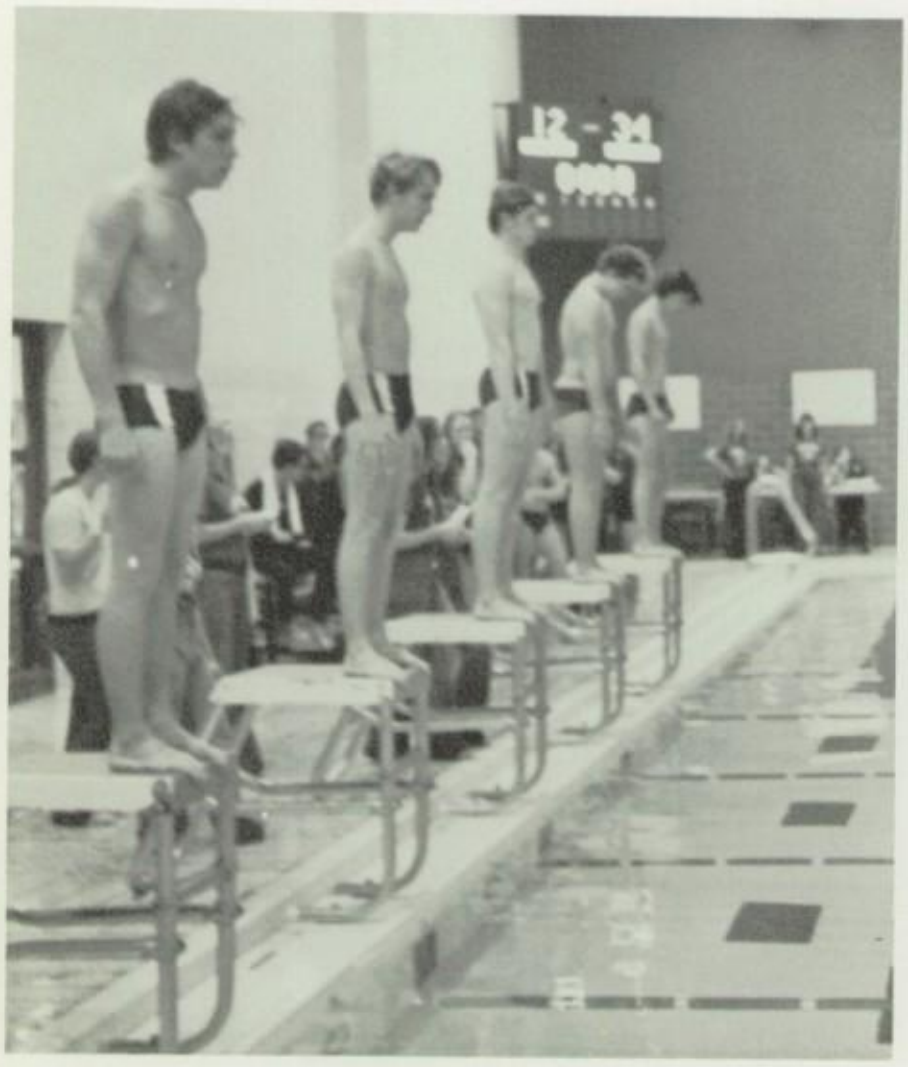
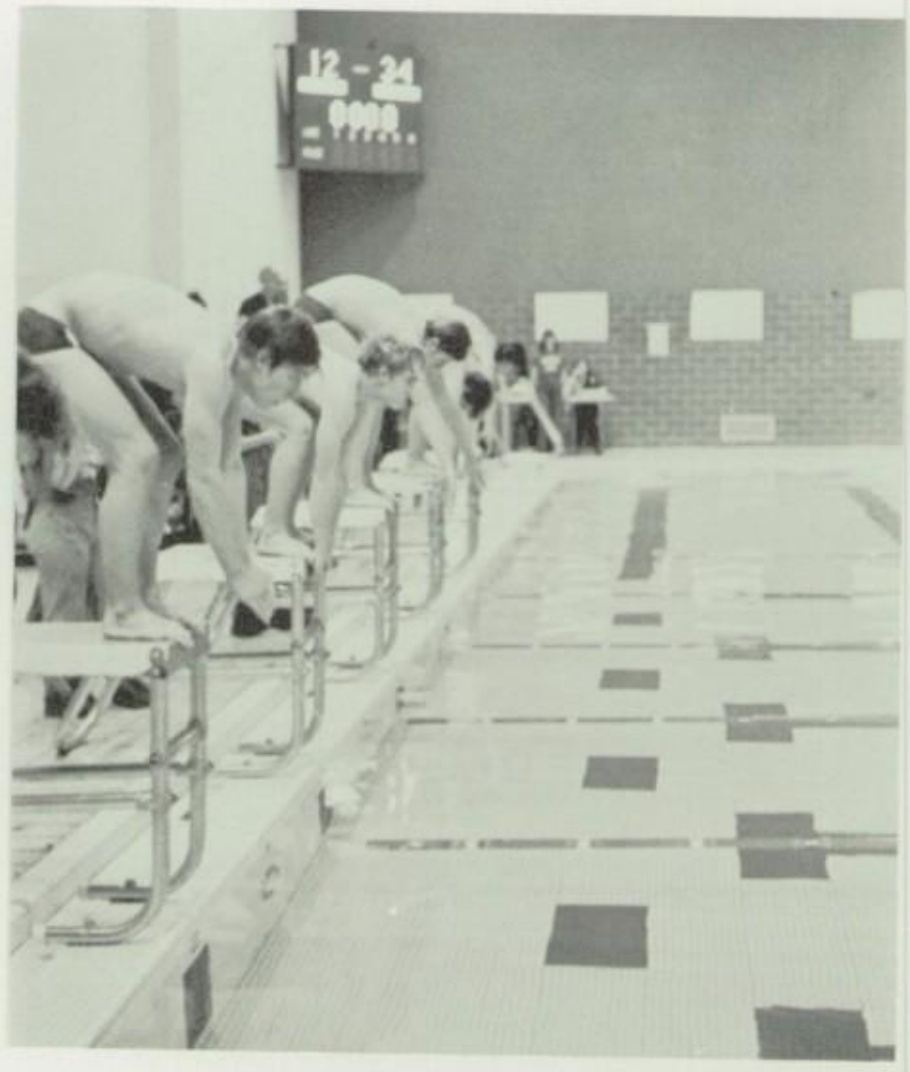
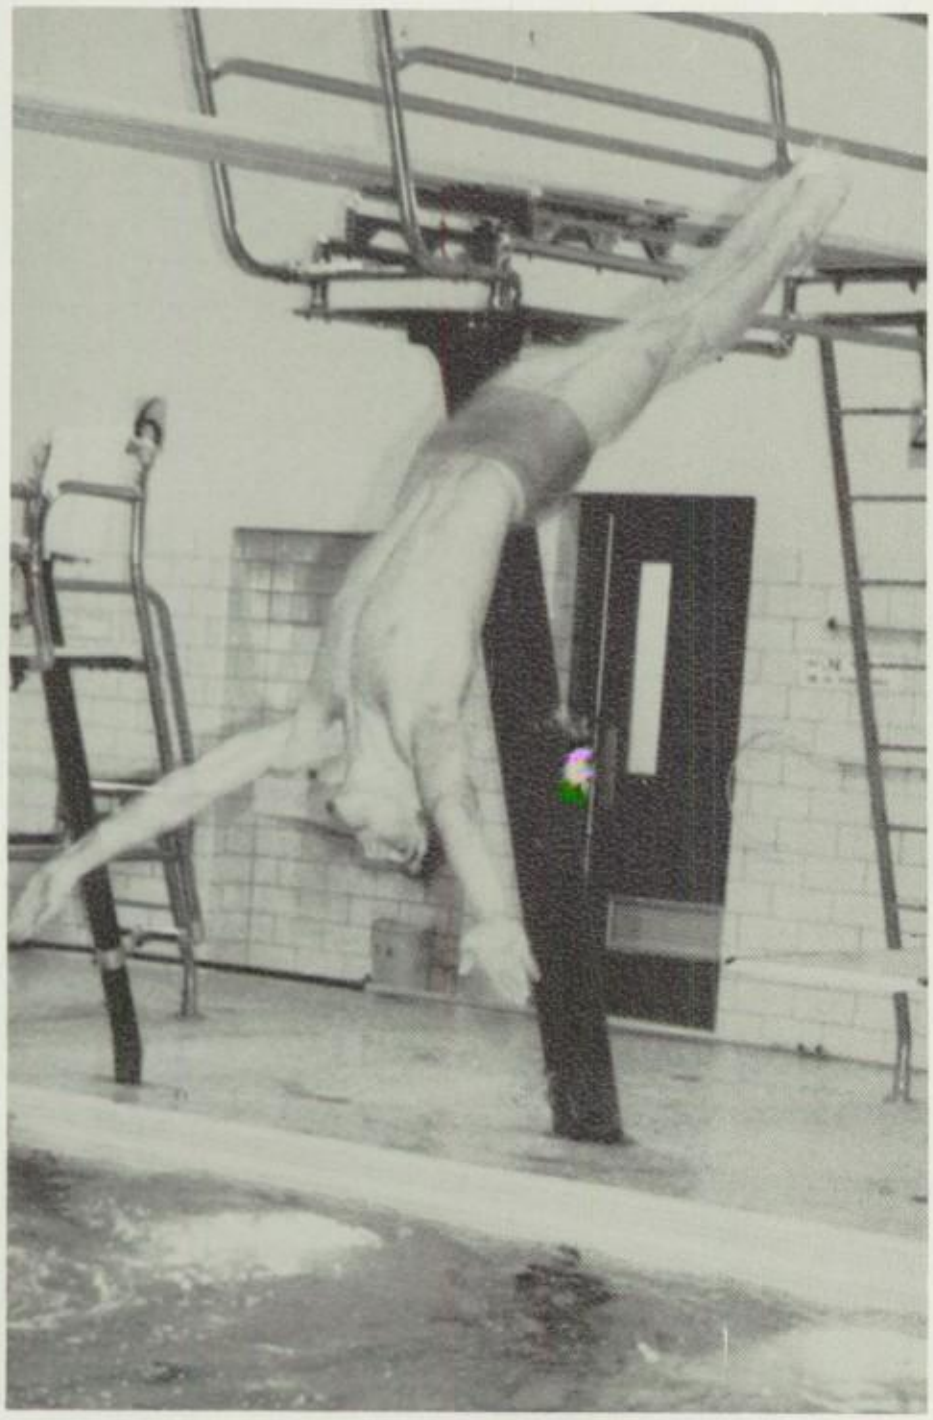
Swimmers dive in, come up with 11-5 season





break 8 of 11 school records during '73-'74



This year's swim team ended their season with an 11-5 record under the direction of Coach Richard Small and Assistant Coach John Norris. They placed sixth of 11 teams in the Valparaiso Sectionals.

After long hours of hard practice, results were seen as team members broke eight of 11 possible school records: Bob Brinkley, 200-yd. freestyle (1:56.8) and 500-yd. freestyle (5:17.8); Jim Read, 200-yd. individual medley (2:16.9); Bill Moeller, one-meter diving (244.15): Kevin Kinel, 100-yd. breaststroke (1:09.7); Read, Dunn, Kinel, Brinkley, 200-yd. medley relay (1:53.3), and Kinel, Read, Brinkley, and Dan Lorenz, 400-yd. freestyle relay (3:41.3).

Moeller represented CHS at the State Swim Finals after he won Sectionals.

Batmen ranked 12th in state for first time

Varsity baseball team hit off to a winning streak of ten games in a row before they lost to the Portage Indians.

Before the season ended, the Trojan batmen were ranked 12th in the state. This is the first time a Chesterton baseball team has been ranked in the top 20, according to Coach Jack Campbell. He also listed among the highlights of the year the winning of the Wirt Classic for the second year in a row.

Senior Jim Lehner led the team in hitting with an average of .378, while Senior Randy Schmidt led in pitching with 7 wins and 1 loss.

The Trojans took the Sectional title by defeating Wirt, 2-1, and East Gary, 4-1, but lost the first game of Regionals at LaPorte to Michigan City Rogers, 1-4.

JV team has winning record in rigid schedule

JV baseball had a 6-3 win-loss record under the coaching of Mr. David Keammerer in his first year as coach of the team.

Coach Keammerer felt that the strong point of the team was an intense desire to win coupled with a strong defense and fine pitching.

Outstanding performances of the season included Ray Banary's 16 strikeouts against Rogers and a 4-0 pitching record, and Bill Jones' two home runs against Hobart. Leading the batting were Jeff Custer and Bill Morris, with .292 averages, followed by Jones' .276.

"The freshman team, in general, is probably one of the best groups (as far as baseball potential) to have entered the CHS baseball program thus far," commented Coach Fran Shove.

The Frosh finished the year with a five-win, three-loss record with two games cancelled because of weather.

With a team batting average of just under .400, the team showed improvement and skill in that department. Marty Wagner led the team with a .533 batting average; Mike Walczak had a .438, and Al Slont, .421. Other batters who hit the ball with consistency, according to Coach Shove, were Carey Allen, Dave Courtney, Mike Meltz, Randy Renner, Jim Rosetti, and Ron Wahl.

The pitching staff ended with a 3.24 earned run average. "Al Slont and Jim Rosetti both did fine jobs on the hill," Coach Shove stated.

Trackmen work for success both individually,

1974 Trojan trackmen were an example of the spirit and determination that characterizes the sport of track. Coached by Mr. William Miller, the Trojans received firsts in the Highland, Griffith, and Hammond Clark Relays, and third in Duneland Conference.

Six Trojans became the new holders of five new school records in various events: Tim Cawby, 12 feet 10 3/4 inches in the pole vault; Tim Graf, 22.4 in the 220-yd. dash; Bill Bradford, 6 feet 4 inches in high jump; Cawby, Terry Mannen, Tim Babcock, and Graf, 1:32.9 in halfmile relay; and Cawby, Howard Lane, Babcock, and Graf, 45.0 in the 440 relay.

Duneland Conference champs were Lane, in the long jump; Tim Graf, in the 100- and 200-yd. dashes, and the halfmile relay team of Cawby, Mannen, Babcock, and Graf.

Regional qualifiers were Lane and Mannen, getting first and third respectively in the long jump at Sectionals, and Bill Bradford, who came in second in the high jump at Sectionals. Lane and Bradford each placed second in Regionals to qualify them for State.

GIA involved many girls in nine sports with several taking top places in Sectional, Regional, and State competition this year.

Sophomore Joan Jacobsen went to state in gymnastics where she placed fourth in floor exercise, after placing first in Regionals.

GIA badminton team was undefeated this year, while the volleyball team defeated Valparaiso at Sectionals.

Swim team won the Regional trophy. Senior Amy Miller, in the State swim meet, placed 12th in the 40-yd. butterfly. The 400-yd. freestyle team of Sophomores Jennifer Covey and Sandie Leasure and Freshmen Laura Wolford and Sue Graham also took 12th place.

CHS was represented in track by 14 girls, 11 of whom qualified for Regionals. Senior Marie Mathias went on to State, where she placed second in hurdles.

Other sports in which girls participated throughout the year were golf, tennis, basketball, and field hockey.

This year for the first time, girls received letters and trophies at the annual GIA Banquet in the spring. Those receiving "outstanding award" in each sport were Terry Gentry, field hockey; Carolyn Katzen, volleyball; Carol Grigsby, badminton; Joan Jacobsen, Laurie Moeller, and Bonnie Beck, gymnastics; Julie Snyder, swimming; Debbie Gadd, basketball; Laura Snyder, tennis, and Marie Mathias, track. GIA director was Miss Connie Ulrich.

IM team spirit proves worthwhile experience

The Intramural Program this year offered competition for both individuals and teams.

As one of the coaches, Mr. James Jeselnick, stated, "With full team effort and work, a successful season emerged."

A variety of sports were offered, including bowling, basketball, water polo, volleyball, gymnastics, and weightlifting. Mr. Joe Wycoff was director.

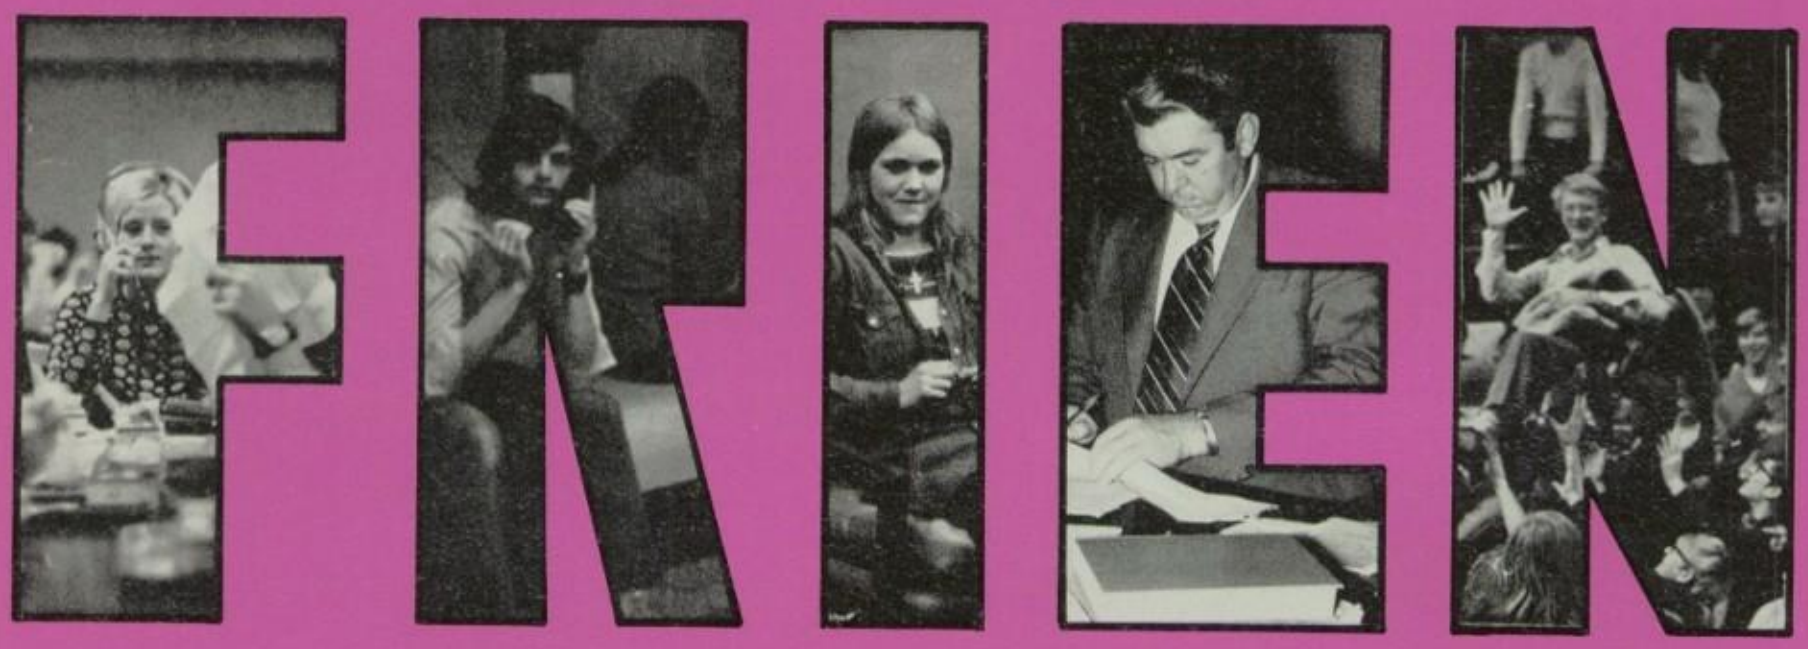
SENIORS



FRIEN

Every year after school has started, the students file in lines to have their school portraits taken. In the '40's classes were taken as one group, except for Seniors who were taken individually. Now in the '70's, all the students have their pictures taken separately. The Seniors had a new variation, with portraits taken in both formal and informal environments.

Yet, even as new processes were used, the students continue to trade pictures with friends and relatives. This tradition has gone on through generations of high school students.

It's as if spirits of the past are present inside and out . . .

Lounge offers place to relax during free time

Another year has ended and the Class of 1974 has arrived and left the halls of CHS.

Looking back on the three years spent here, seniors found it hard to leave their friends and a school that taught them not only reading, writing, and arithmetic, but the value of a friend.

As sophomores, CHS looked large and frightening. The Homecoming float, "Iron Out Ingots," along with the magazine sale and other activities gave students an opportunity to work together and plan for the next year.

During their Junior year, the candy sale helped earn $4,500 for the Prom, whose theme, "Knights in White Satin," took guests back to the Middle Ages.

In their final year, Seniors sponsored such things as the Styx Concert, "Raggedy Ann and Andy" Valentine Dance, and had the winning Homecoming float, "Trojans Inject D'Feet." Seniors were able to choose from traditional or environmental pictures. Open Campus was extended to a full semester, and the ordering of maroon and gold caps and gowns and announcements made the final year pass too swiftly.

After spring vacation, Seniors were kept busy with "The King and I," Prom, Honors Day, and then Senior Week. Finally June 2, Graduation Day, arrived, and even those who had longed for this date had a moment of sorrow as they left to let others take their place as Seniors of CHS.

Juniors begin important year with vitality

With the year ahead of them in mind, the Junior Class elected officers to lead them. To earn money for their treasury, they sold candy, netting $2,000.

In order to promote good will, the class sent $144 to Children, Inc., to "adopt" a less fortunate foreign child.

The class worked together on two projects before Prom, the Football Homecoming float and "Deck the Halls" decorations. Their "Portage Hell Haven" theme in the latter won them the first-place award.

May 17 the gym was decorated in the theme of "Over the Rainbow," as the Juniors hosted the Seniors for the annual Prom. Guests walked over a "yellowbrick road" to the main floor, which was patterned after Munchkinland, while the west balcony, where refreshments were served, was Emerald City.

Year begins with Sophomores electing officers

With the first year out of the way, the Sophomores began their second year with a feeling of relief at not being the youngest ones in high school.

Keeping their goals in mind, the Sophomores elected class officers. Their second decision came in choosing class rings.

With the help of class sponsors, Mr. Michael Kotys and Mr. Charles Martin, the Sophomores money-making project for the year was a chili supper.

They proved their ability to work together by building a competitive Homecoming float, "Brew the Raiders," and decorating their halls for the Portage basketball game.

Freshmen show promise of successful future

Freshman year began with the initial transition from careful supervision to relative independence. Students then elected officers who would guide them through their first year of high school.

In the fall, the class had a surprise party for their undefeated football team and then united to construct their first float, "Trojans Are # UN."

As a money-making project, members of the class collected box tops. They accomplished all of this with the support of their class sponsors, Mrs. Janet Zeck and Mr. Robert Pinda.

Administrators aid CHS students to accomplish

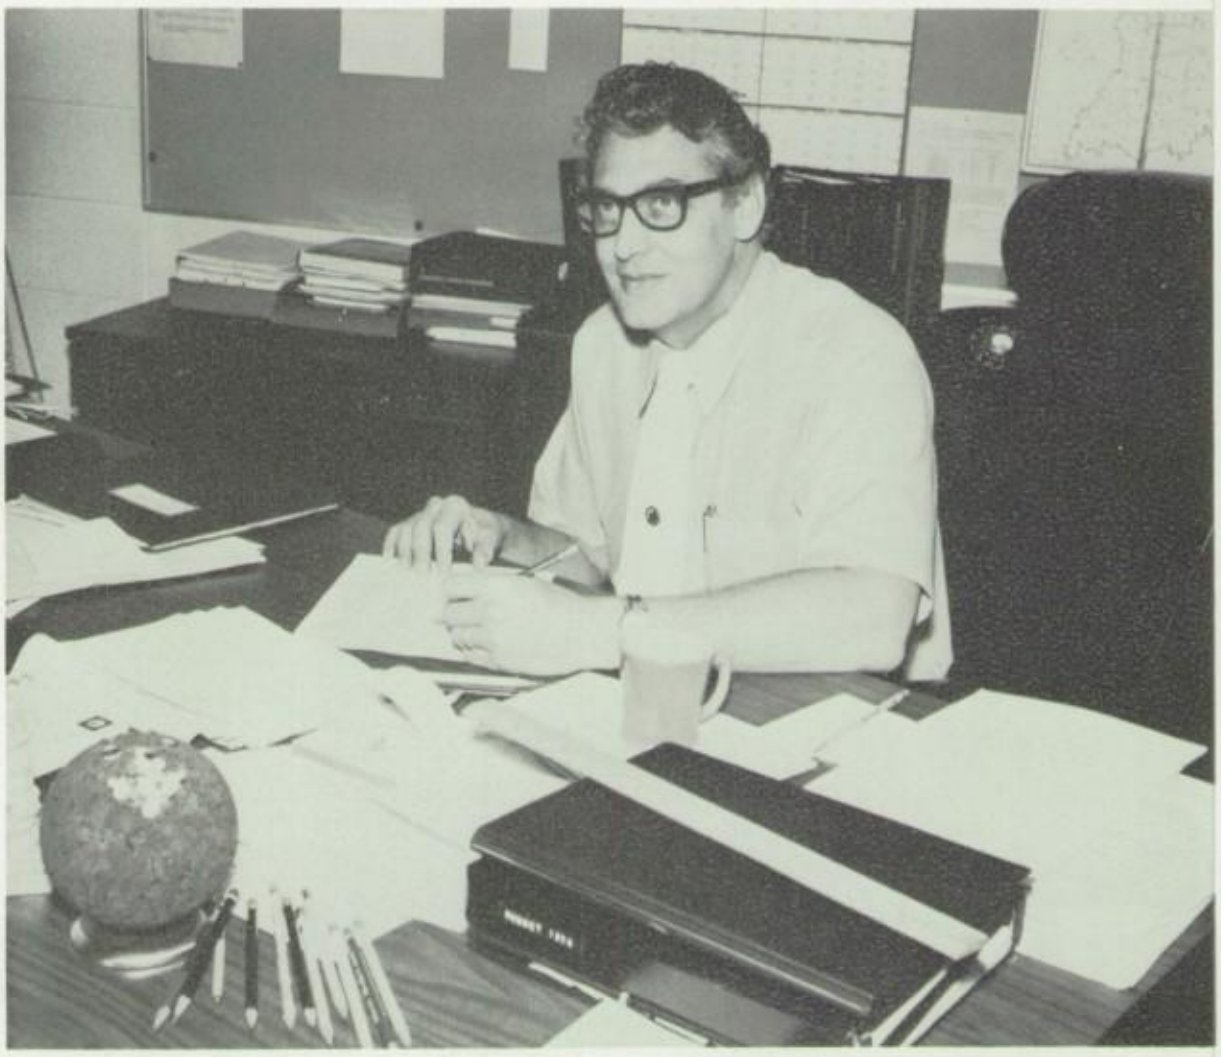
Duneland administrators supervised Chesterton High School and all the schools in the Duneland area.

CHS Principal William Crockett was responsible for the curriculum of the high school. He also worked with students in areas such as Student Government and met with parents concerning students' activities in school.

Dr. F. Edward Wall was assistant principal in charge of Upper Division. He was primarily in charge of extracurricular activities in school.

Mr. Alfred P. Nelson was the Lower Division assistant principal and worked on teacher observation and evaluation. He was also principal of CHS Adult Education Evening Division. After 15 years, he retired this year from the school system. Mr. Nelson plans to work now as a realtor, and he and his wife, Mrs. Marian Nelson, who also retired this year, hope to make California their winter home.

Mr. Robert Ehrick, dean of students, along with Mr. Robert Jones, assistant dean, worked with students who had problems or who needed to be excused from school for any reason.



ABOVE: Mr. William Crockett, CHS principal, goes over the curriculum for the year. CENTER: Duneland Administrators are, seated, Mr. Charles H. Messler, assistant superintendent, and Dr. Karl H. Speckhard, superintendent. Standing are Mr. James Ross, director of special services, and Mr. Dee Hand, business manager. Pupil Personnel Services help students plan

A Career Center was added to the Pupil Personnel Services this year. Located in the Lower Division Guidance Office, the Center is a place where students may go to find information concerning any career from digging ditches to becoming a surgeon. Pamphlets and bulletins tell about job opportunities, education requirements necessary, and where to find additional information.

Mrs. Rachel Oesting is the director of Pupil Personnel Services. She works with counselors, deans, attendance officer, and nurses in coordinating services for students.

CHS counselors are always around to assist the students in scheduling classes and with other problems that may come up.

Mrs. Sharon Isaacs, CHS head nurse, and Mrs. Maryann Wenzel, Lower Division nurse, aid the students when they are not feeling well or when they are injured. They also work with the county health department in administering tuberculosis and other tests.

Attendance Office keeps track of all students

Attendance Office is part of Pupil Personnel Services. Mr. Ray Banary, attendance officer, takes care of the absentees, tardies, and truancies throughout the Duneland School System, with the assistance of Mrs. Dorothy DeGroff, attendance office secretary. Mr. Banary also visits homes of students with problems and works with other officials in assisting students whenever possible. In the mornings Mrs. Sharon Isaacs, head nurse, helps Mr. Banary with writing the admit slips for the students who were absent the day before.

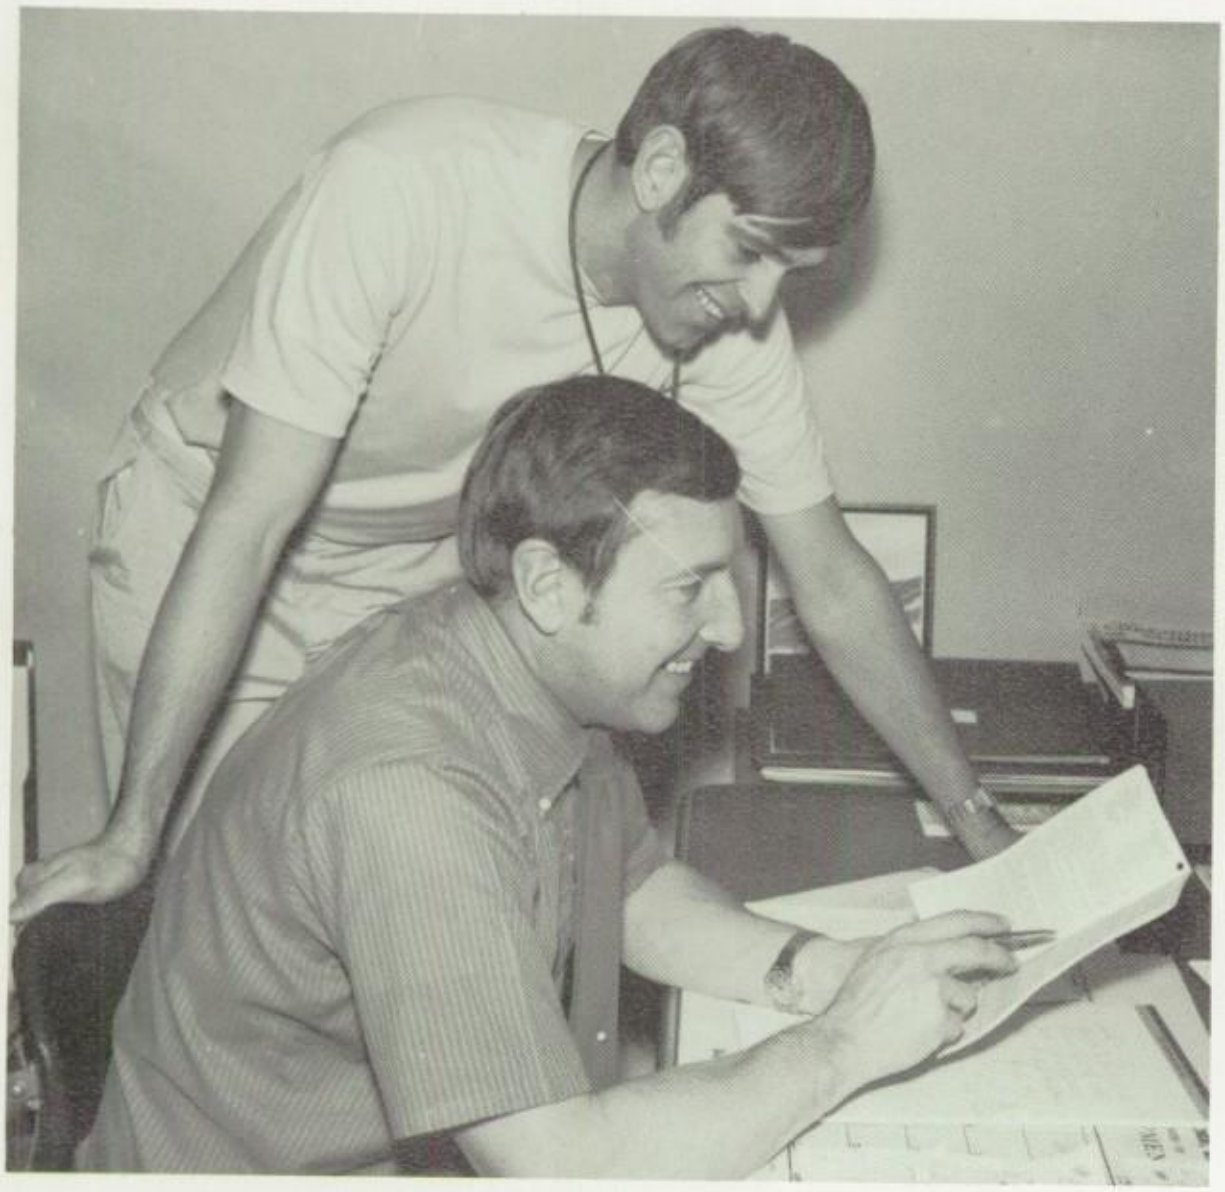
Athletic Department arranges details for sports



Mr. John Mathias, besides being Duneland athletic director, also is chairman of the Physical Education Department in five elementary schools, two middle schools, and the high school. Mr. Melvin Bair assists.

Athletic Department not only schedules all CHS athletic events but also arranges for coaches, uniforms, transportation, equipment, and referees for each of these.

LEFT: Mr. John Mathias, seated, athletic director, and Mr. Melvin Bair, assistant, check over rules for sports events throughout the year.

Bookstore provides classroom, extra supplies

The big new addition to the Bookstore this year is the cash register. It has eliminated the stack of "money boxes" for various funds which Mrs. Laura Volk and her assistant, Mrs. Carolyn Cole, had to work with in previous years.

Bookstore provides students with necessary items, such as paper, pencils, pens, rulers, and folders. The secretaries also handle book fines, shop cards, and tickets for sports, drama, and musical events. Mrs. Volk and Mrs. Cole double as athletic department secretaries, typing programs and contracts and constantly updating the athletic schedules.

LEFT: Mrs. Carolyn Cole, left, assistant, and Mrs. Laura Volk, who is in charge of Bookstore, discuss the new cash register that was added this year.

Secretaries, aides offer valuable assistance

Mrs. Hazel Cole is Principal William Crockett's secretary. Besides her other duties as secretary, Mrs. Cole coordinates aides and secretaries throughout the building.

Mrs. Kay McGroarty, financial secretary, handles all money and check-writing for the high school as well as financial record-keeping for all activities. Mrs. McGroarty also sees that school supplies are ordered and distributed to departments and to all offices.

Mrs. Suzy Carmichael, Upper Division Office, works primarily for Dr. F. Edward Wall, assistant principal, and Mr. Robert Ehrick, dean of students. Mrs. Becky Cole is office secretary for Lower Division, working for Mr. Alfred Nelson, assistant principal, and Mr. Robert Jones, assistant dean. Their duties include taking shorthand, typing, and answering phone calls.

CHS cooks satisfy students growling stomaches

Cooks are a very important part of the school day for students and teachers alike. From 10:32 a.m. to 12:14 p.m., hot lunches are served by the cooks to provide students and teachers balanced meals.

In addition to the regular A Lunch, students may purchase ala carte sandwiches, french fries, salads, and desserts. The cooks also prepare special treats for holidays, such as decorated cookies.

Custodians work toward cleaniness during year

Mr. Robert Lafayette is new head custodian at CHS. New employees are trained by Mr. Lafayette, who works with each on the job until the employee is able to work on his own.

Mr. Lafayette is also in charge of ordering of supplies, supervising custodians, and hiring overtime help. Along with the other custodians, he keeps CHS looking clean and beautiful.

Mr. Richard Sexton, is in charge of maintenance. His primary job is to keep the heating and air conditioning functioning properly throughout the year.

Now, the staff offers a service to the community by selling display ads of one-third, one-half, or a full page. Patron ads also make up a part of the advertisements.

Even though years have passed, the community and school work together so that both may benefit from the publication of the Singing Sands.

Out of all the things I have been asked to do this year as editor, this has been the hardest. To summarize a year's activities in these few lines was almost impossible.

The staff this year proved to be unique. Between disagreements, we usually managed to have a few minutes of harmony to make minor decisions such as cover, type and content!

The journalism room changed from B-119 to home for some, while others referred to it as the "dungeon." Armed with Pepsi cans and candy wrappers, it was the place of hard work for all.

We owe thanks to many people:

–First our mother, leader, and iron fist, Mrs. Janice Custer, who stuck with us through thick and thin to help produce this book.

–Mr. Dan Beckley and the AV Department for all the contacts, prints, and negatives they printed and developed for us.

–The Ball State Journalism Seminar for helping me to formulate the theme.

–Our parents who put up with bad moods and temper tantrums for months.

–Last of all, the many beautiful faces that made up this book.

Students value tradition through halls of CHS

1974 Singing Sands Yearbook is a 9x12 summer delivery book published by Paragon Printers, Montgomery, Alabama. It is printed on Normandy paper; endsheets are of Sandstone solid. Captions are Century Expanded with italics set in 8 point; body copy, 10 point; Garamond Italic is used for headline type.

Cover picture was drawn by Senior Dave Winter. The cover material is crush grain of Cocoa Brown #3661 with Tan #18 as its applied color. Pictures were taken by Dean Studios, of Michigan City.

Another year of students have passed through the halls of CHS. They have met new people, experienced new victories, and acknowledged defeats.

Next year's Singing Sands staff will struggle over the decision of choosing a new theme . . . something that no one else has ever done before. Things will be changed, and time will hurry on.

Yet, within the active world they will come to know they will always find time for tradition.

It's as if spirits of the past are present inside and out . . .
